Experience more in Bath, Bristol and beyond

nearfield's mission is to make sure that no one misses out on an unmissable event or experience in the Bath and Bristol area ever again.

Introducing nearfield

With thousands of events on our online listings platform, and 10,000 copies of our print magazine distributed across the Bath and Bristol region every two months, nearfield is the first choice to promote events and experiences in the southwest, and connect with a local audience aged 25-44.

Across print, web, email, social and events, our purpose is to inspire people in the southwest to discover more events and experiences, get out to gigs, exhibitions and performances, explore new places to eat, drink and shop, learn from talks and workshops, and more.

Our bimonthly magazine has a print run of 10,000 with free distribution to 500+ stockists within a 25-mile radius of Bath and Bristol, including neighbouring towns such as Frome, Bruton, Clevedon and Stroud.

Our online listings platform thenearfield.com aims to offer the most comprehensive regional listings guide in the UK.

Audience

nearfield's core audience is aged 25-44 Many of our readers have relocated to the Bath and Bristol area from London and beyond, attracted by beautiful countryside, great schools, and its position as the gateway to the southwest.

Here to raise families and build careers, many will run their own businesses, and work from home or a co-working space.

nearfield is a free bimonthly handbook for discovering the very best in Bath, Bristol and beyond.

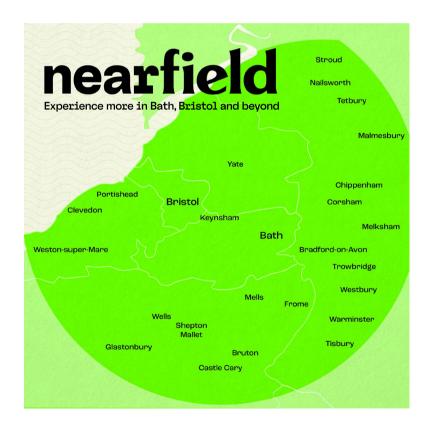

From big-ticket events, far-out experiences, fresh eats and hidden treasures, to the people and communities making the magic happen, we're here to inspire our readers' curiosity and make sure they never miss out again.

Distribution

nearfield magazine is available for free via our network of 500+ high footfall locations within a 25-mile radius of Bath and Bristol, including coffee shops, co-working spaces, hotels, restaurants, bars, independent shops, festivals and offices. We distribute to stockists in Bath, Bristol, Clevedon, Frome, Bruton, Tisbury, Corsham, Bradford-on-Avon, Stroud and many others.

The magazine is available via a paid subscription for readers who want a copy delivered to their door. The online edition of the magazine delivers a further 7,000+ views per issue.

Advertorials

Advertorials offer the chance to say more than a regular advert. We deploy our creative resources to tell our readers the story of your business, according to your commercial agenda and sales message. You will have full creative control over the feature.

Our advertorials generally run across two, three or four pages, and receive the same editorial and design treatment as our regular features, presented in nearfield's house style and tone of voice, and overseen by the senior creative team.

Marketplace

nearfield Marketplace is a promoted showcase of independent businesses in the southwest, published in every issue of nearfield magazine and promoted on Instagram.

It provides readers with a roundup of independent businesses in the Bath and Bristol area – including a short editorial profile and details about what makes them special – for a lower cost than a regular advert.

The costs to be included in the Marketplace are:

One issue (two months coverage) = £175

Three issues (six months coverage)

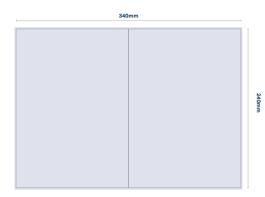

= £145 per issue

Six issues (12 months coverage) = £95 per issue

What the readers say

"Just picked up a copy of the mag at Society. Really next-level quality and I've not even opened it yet!"

"I've really enjoyed the issues so far – a great combination of nicely designed layouts, and interesting, digestible content. Great work!"

"I have just discovered nearfield. It is brilliant. I have found out so much. Already a fan!"

"Great issue of nearfield – several todos as a consequence. Cheers!"

"So good! I read it cover to cover."

"Love seeing this magazine go from strength to strength. Only two issues in, and already I see it everywhere and hear it mentioned daily. And yes, I have their sticker on my laptop." "I couldn't be without this cool magazine to help me discover what's going on around these parts!"

"nearfield is a ludicrously lovely magazine, and distributed within some of my favourite independent shops in Bristol and Bath. It's so fresh and exciting."

"So impressive. The quality of the layout and the whole feel of the magazine belies its free nature."

"We are so happy to see the quality of nearfield. Bath and the area certainly needs this type of magazine!"

What the advertisers say

"I can't remember how long I committed to nearfield for, but I'm finding it the best money I've spent on advertising so far, and would like to check how much longer I have left so I can renew."

"Absolutely love nearfield, by the way.
It looks amazing, and is always stuffed full of interesting content and features.
Such a treat when a new edition comes out, and I'm usually lucky enough to get one from The Egg Theatre café."

"Your magazine is definitely the nicest by far."

"We loved looking through your mag yesterday – and hats off! What a classy and vibrant publication."

"The ad looks awesome! It's a really cool mag and we love what you guys are doing."

"Bristol's finest new independent magazine."

"nearfield is a good fit for our business

– you represent a great community of people and have a great ethos."

"We were very pleased to hear that we had volunteers sign up as a result of seeing our ad in nearfield, which is really brilliant. It's great to see nearfield popping up in so many locations across Bristol, too!"

"We were so impressed with the quality of nearfield's first issue and the distribution you guys have achieved, that we'd be pleased to confirm a long-term booking with you."

"I write to congratulate you on the first edition, which was beautifully produced and well received by our customers."

"I love what you guys do, and this makes it affordable for the very small business I am."
